TADLOCK HOME LOOTED--AUTO ALSO IS GONE

Thieves Ransacked House During Absence Of Owners

MANY THINGS STOLEN

Following Crime Robbers Drove Machine South, Clue Shows

While Mr. and Mrs. Orval Tadlock were guests of the evening at the home of Professor and Mrs. C. M. Fulkerson, thieves Saturday night last, ransacked their home on West Clay street and carried away a large number of articles of apparel of Mr. Tadlock and some treasured possessions of Mrs. Tadlock. The robbers entered the home through a rear door.

Were Motoring South.

Mr. and Mrs. Tadlock had prepared to leave for the south Sunday and had their luggage ready to pack last minute articles. In robbing the rooms the thieves threw out the belongings of Mrs. Tadlock from her traveling bag and put into it other goods they wished to make away with. The same procedure was followed in stealing the grip of Mr. Tadlock. Ample time was taken by the intruders in making their pilfered selections. Mr. Tadlock suffered the loss of much of his clothing and shoes. Clocks and ornaments were also taken.

Stole The Machine.

A Plymouth car had been serviced and was in the garage, which Mr. Tadlock had locked before going to Mr. and Mrs. Fulkerson's. Upon returning it was discovered the garage doors were open and the machine gone. That the burglars went south was indicated by the fact the registration card for the car was found near Hopland by a boy and handed to Captain John Rawles of the Traffic squad.

May Be Same Offender.

Of late nine or 10 garages, woodsheds and outhouses have been robbed in this section and the thieves have not been apprehended. Whether the parties who robbed the Tadlock home Saturday are the ones who have been making the depredations of recent weeks and decided to make one big raid before leaving Ukiah, is not known.

Delay Departure.

Pending a possible recovery of their property through an early arrest Mr. and Mrs. Tadlock have delayed their departure for the south a few days.

Many Housewives Have Been Gypped

Last month a young man who represented a northern woolen mill appeared in Ukiah and took orders for blankets. The past few days the blankets began arriving and, upon the package containing the blankets being opened, local women found they had been gypped. The blankets, instead of being of a fine quality, soft and fluffy, were found to be army blankets of a most ordinary kind, easily procurable in town for less than what the agent was paid. To add to the perplexity of the Ukiah ladies, a number of them had planned giving the blankets as Christmas gifts. In most instances the blankets are being returned and, in the meantime, other gifts have to be purchased to take the place of the unwelcome bedcoverings.

EX-BOONVILLE PRINCIPAL IS A FREE MAN NOW

Herman West Served A Little Less Than Half Time, Out

WIFE STAYED LOYAL

Accused Left County Jail Thursday Without Any Funds

DID NOT QUIT

Attorneys for Principal Herman West were Judge H. L. Preston and Wayne P. Burke, of this city, not only did they put up such a determined defense for the accused man as to result in his escaping with an exceedingly light sentence, but, even after the trial, they continued to work and were largely instrumental in having the parole board liberate their client before Christmas.

Despite the protest of District Attorney Matthew Brady, member of the San Francisco Parole Board, Herman West, former Boonville, Mendocino county, high school principal, convicted in San Francisco of an offense against a young girl, was paroled Thursday.

Against Freeing Him.

"This office was opposed to the parole of Herman West," said District Attorney Brady. "He barely escaped being convicted of a felony charge and going to state prison. The vote was 10 to 2 in favor of conviction on the felony charge and he was convicted of the lesser charge and sentenced to a year in the county jail as a compromise verdict by the jury. I contended Mr. West should serve the full year, but other members of the board, Sheriff W. J. Fitzgerald and Police Chief William J. Quinn, voted otherwse and Mr. West was paroled.

Rule Was Broken.

"While I am not criticising Fitzgerald and Quinn, I maintain that the parole board's rule that a prisoner must serve at least half his term before being eligible to parole should be observed. Mr. West had not yet served half his jail term."

Not At Meeting.

District Attorney Brady said he did not attend the parole board meeting, but was represented by Assstant District Attorney W. B. Connolly, who was instructed to oppose the parole.

Stood By Accused.

Mr. West's wife, who has stood loyally by him since his conviction on a morals charge, and two daughters, Betty and Corinne, were at the jail doors to welcome Mr. West when he emerged to enjoy Christmas with his family.

Is Without Funds.

Mr. West left the county jail penniless. His life savings were spent on his defense against the charges of a young girl he took to San Francisco for a teacher's convention.

MOVIE STAR'S PLANE LANDS IN A PASTURE

Ruth Chatterton In A Forced Descent At Fort Bragg

SHE HAD BEEN LOST

Aviatrix Maneuvered Ship Into A Field—Given Send-Off

Lost over rugged mountains in semi-darkness with a very low fuel supply adding to her perilous plight. Ruth Chatterton, beautiful brunette Hollywood movie actress piloting her own airplane, escaped a threatened crackup and possibly death when she managed to bring her plane to a safe forced landing in a sheep pasture near Fort Bragg Tuesday.

Story Kept Quiet.

Although the air-minded film star's near-mishap occurred on Tuesday evening, it was not revealed here until Miss Chatterton had flown to San Francisco. Her skill at the plane's controls and calmness in the face of an emergency were credited with avoiding a crash.

She Got Lost.

An accomplished aviatrix with many hours flying time to her credit, Miss Chatterton left Hollywood alone in her Stinson Reliant plane at 1:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon intending to fly to San Francisco for a few days' visit with friends. She piloted the plane up the valley route, but became confused by fog banks around the bay area and was flying over the mountains in Lake county before she realized she was "lost."

Sought Landing Spot.

Far off her course with dusk rapidly falling and her fuel supply diminished, Miss Chatterton started searching for an open spot where an emergency landing could be made. Rough country over which she was flying failed to reveal any possible site for a forced landing until the powerful plane nosed out over the ocean in the semi-darkness of early evening.

Got In Sheep Pasture.

Sighting the level but rough sheep pasture in an open field just south of the Union Lumber company's nursery near Fort Bragg, the movie star brought her sputtering plane safely down on the bumpy ground.

Told Fort Braggers.

The experience failed to upset the talented actress. "Everything's all right, but I certainly was glad to find somewhere to land in time," she smilingly told astounded Fort Bragg residents as her identity became known. After a warm meal she recounted the story of her flight. "You see it was 1:15 o'clock in the afternoon when I decided to fly to San Francisco for a few hours' visit with friends," she explained. "I took the valley route to escape fog banks, and had intended to turn northwest when I reached a point south of San Francisco. I became mixed up somehow, and instead of doing this I came directly north. As a result I was somewhere around Lakeport before I realized I was badly off my course.

Darkness Came On.

"It was getting dark and my fuel was low. I realized it would be foolhardy to attempt to try and find San Francisco under such conditions. So rather than fly back to a point where I could reclaim my bearings, I began looking for a place to land. But, oh, those mountains and deep gorges and tall trees! I never saw such rough country.

Got Over Ocean.

"I wasn't sure where I was going, but finally I came right out

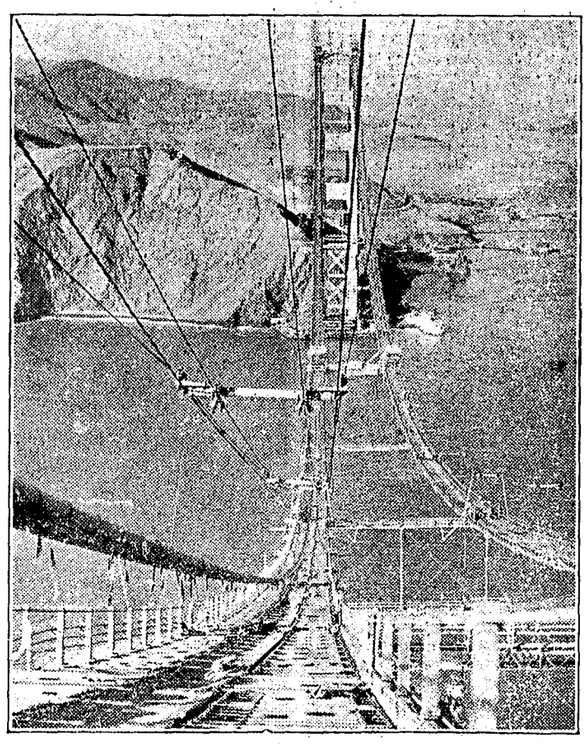
HIT-RUN DRIVER FATALLY INJURED AGED COAST LADY

While crossing the street Saturday evening last Mrs. Mary Swartz, aged 61, was struck by a car driven by Charles Allen and seriously hurt. The accident happened in front of the Windsor Hotel at Fort Bragg. Mrs. Swartz sustained two broken legs, badly shattered left shoulder and head injuries. The victim is at Redwood Coast Hospital in a precarious condition. Clever work on the part of Traffic Officer Joe Randolph later located the car, with a dented fender, which struck Mrs. Swartz. Mr. Allen, following the accident, did not stop. The machine driven by Mr. Allen belonged to his brother-in-law, Charles Mack. Following arrest Justice of the Peace Ware held Mr. Allen to superior court for trial. District Attorney Gibson, who has charged the accused man with injuring and failing to render assistance to an injured person, a felony, says Mr. Allen has confessed.

GRACEFUL WEB SPUN IN MID-AIR



Like huge mechanical spiders four great spinning wheels are shuttling forth and back over the waters of San Francisco's harbor entrance, weaving the mighty cables that will support the Golden Gate bridge. At the left, above the catwalk, may be seen several strands of cable wire already spun. When completed the two 36½-inch cables will contain 60,000 miles of wire.

(By Stuart B. Dunbar)

Man power on the Golden Gate bridge reached a new high mark this week with 600 workers employed on various units of the project. By January 1 this all-time high will be raised to approximately 800 when 250 relief workers are put to work on the Sausalito lateral approach road and 50 steel workers commence construction of the Marin approach span.

Many Cable Workers.

Of the 600 men now employed 325 are engaged in cable spinning operations, 100 are working at the John A. Roeblings Sons Company cable storage and reeling plant at California City and the balance are spread out on other contracts now under way.

What Has Been Done.

According to the weekly progress report of Chief Engineer Joseph B. Strauss 10 cable strands have been completed, five over each catwalk, and spinning operations again have been transferred from the east to the west walk where another set of four strands is being spun.

Abutment Work Goes On.

Work on the south abutment and the footings for the south approach span is progressing rapidly and according to the chief engineer will be completed by January first. The low viaduct of the east approach road through the Presidio is going forward rapidly and will be completed early in 1936.

KILLERS BELONG IN PRISON

(Santa Rosa Press-Democrat)

A strong argument for putting criminally insane persons inside state prison walls was presented in news from Ukiah telling of a plot to turn 150 madmen loose on the countryside. The plot failed due to the vigilance of suspicious guards and the ringleaders were taken to San Quentin, where they belong. But chills creep up one's spine when the thing that might have happened is considered. Fifty of these demented persons who would have escaped were murderers. The rest could easily have become murderers if given a chance in a desperate dash for liberty. With scores of mad killers taking to the hills, looking for food and means of getting out of the country, the residents of several counties would live in terror. Besides available officers it would have taken several national guard units to thoroughly comb the country in the hunt for dangerous lunatics. Many of those in the state's hospitals for the insane are "border" cases. Some have virtually regained their mental balance through treatment. Others never were insane in the first place. They may have had mental peculiarities which, with the help of a smart lawyer, gained their escape from more severe punishment for crimes committed. These "border" cases and the ones who are "crazy like a fox" are the trouble makers. These are inmates who do the plotting. They, particularly, are the ones who should be safely kept in special quarters inside prison walls, where there is no chance of escape. Guards at hospitals for the insane are allowed to carry no arms. They must handle unruly cases with their bare hands. They would have no chance whatever of stopping a stampede of demented men, led by a group of desperate killers.

ESCAPE PLOT OF MANIACS IS THWARTED

Mendocino Hospital Superintendent Nips A Bad Break

RINGLEADERS CAUGHT

Guards Were To Be Slugged, Doors Opened To Killers

GOT NIGHT STICKS

Since the plot to bring on a wholesale break at the criminal ward of the State Hospital at Talmage was discovered last week, orders have been given to provide attendants in the ward for the criminal insane with modern night sticks, like those employed by metropolitan police. These will be used in extreme cases only, however.

A desperate escape plot, fostered by criminally crazed inmates at Mendocino State Hospital, was thwarted by Dr. R. A. Cushman Tuesday last. Had it materialized two unarmed guards would have been overpowered, their keys stolen, and the doors of the asylum thrown open to 150 mentally twisted and dangerous criminals, 50 of whom are homicidal maniacs, he declared. Ten inmates had concocted the escape plot in the overcrowded, criminally insane ward, a ward originally erected to house 150 "stir-crazed" San Quentin convicts, undergoing treatment.

Inmates Strike Guards.

The first inkling of threatened trouble came several weeks ago, Dr. Cushman said, when the crazed convicts became sullen, many refusing to obey orders. On several occasions guards were struck, he said. "That ward is always considered a powder keg, which might explode any minute." Dr. Cushman said. "Only four guards are on duty during the day and night. There are 12 altogether, but they work in shifts." The attendants, he revealed, would be unable to cope with a mass attack. "They are forbidden to carry weapons, and the only way they can repulse a maddened convict is with their bare hands," Dr. Cushman stated.

Planned To Steal Cars.

The sullen behavior of the convicts caused Dr. Cushman to investigate. He learned of the plot; how it was to occur at dusk one night, when only two guards were on duty; how the 10 prisoners involved would appropriate the guards' keys and slip stealthily to the asylum garage, where they planned to flee in guards' cars. But the sight of the opened doors and freedom, might have precipitated a wholesale break of the other mentally deranged convicts.

Who Ringleaders Were.

Dr. Cushman, discovering the plot, phoned San Quentin for guards immediately to take four of the most desperate ringleaders back to San Quentin. They were Seward Hollingshead, burglar; Martin Flynn, robber; Frederico Grico, burglar, and Harry Dunlap, charged with molesting children.

Placed In Solitary.

They were placed in solitary confinement at San Quentin.

Must Wait Two Years.

The Legislature, at its last session, appropriated $320,000 for an addition to the criminally insane ward, Dr. Cushman said, but it will take two years to build.

Mrs. L. A. Lawson of this city and Miss Welda Hiatt of San Francisco passed the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hiatt of Cloverdale. Mr. Lawson accompanied his wife down Friday and went after her Sunday.

TO PATROL LAKE

(Lakeport Press)

Illegal fishing on Clear Lake will be halted if the State Fish and Game Commission has anything to say about it. A patrol boat and two new game wardens were put into service last week for the purpose of enforcing the state fishing laws. Wardens Siebeck and W. F. Kahiler are the two new wardens and will work with Game Warden Ed Johnson, who took Ken Ransdell's place. The speedboat is 26 feet long and was launched at Austin's Resort. It has a speed of 30 miles per hour. It will be used to check up on setlines and nets.

25 PER CENT PRODUCTION CUT FAVORED

California Plan Gains Support As Alternate Method

OLD PLAN IS DOOMED

Coastwide Co-operative Scheme Now Believed Out

After an all-day discussion at Santa Rosa Friday last in an effort to agree on some means of stabilizing the hop industry, hop growers of California rejected by a two to one vote the proposed tri-state co-operative corporation plan for controlling production.

Too Much Red Tape.

The tri-state plan, suggested at a recent conference of committees from California, Oregon and Washington, was condemned by the growers as "too intricate."

Many At Meeting.

More than 100 growers from the Sacramento valley and Sonoma and Mendocino counties participated in the meeting, representing at least 80 per cent of the state's total hop tonnage.

Favor Acreage Cut.

Although defeating the tri-state corporation plan as proposed, the growers overwhelmingly favored slashing the acreage to curtail production under another more simplified plan. A reduction of 25 per cent of the Pacific Coast's hop tonnage was agreed upon unanimously as "necessary" to put the industry on a profitable basis.

Movemenut Is Killed.

The vote of California growers doomed the coastwide co-operative corporation proposal, as backing of the three states was needed to make the plan effective.

Propose Alternative.

As an alternative, the meeting unanimously backed further efforts to revive the "California plan" originally considered before the tri-state proposal was put forward. The so-called California plan was suggested under section 32 of the AAA, making funds available from import levies for use of the secretary of agriculture in curtailing production. A committee consisting of A. S. Gibbons and Peter Bradley of Sacramento, Warren Brown and J. C. Johnson of Mendocino county, and R. E. Oehlman and Everett S. Ballard of Sonoma county was appointed to confer at Berkeley yesterday with R. H. McDrew, marketing specialist for the AAA, regarding possibilities for the alternate plan. Mr. McDrew, who has come west from Washington to assist the hop growers, has been in the Pacific northwest and failed to arrive in tme for the Santa Rosa meeting.

Need Co-operation.

Success of the California plan also will hinge upon securing the support of all three states, however, leaders of the industry point out, as co-operation of 85 per cent of the growers on the Pacific coast is believed required to make the acreage reduction effective. I. D. Woods, president of the United Hop Growers of California, presided over the meeting.

AUTOIST DIES BENEATH CAR THAT SKIDDED

Occupants Were Going To Be Married On The Coast

WOMAN WAS NOT HURT

Hurried On Icy Pavement And Lost Control Of Machine

On the eve of being married and establishing a home in the Rockport section, J. C. Yoakum, 61 years of age, of San Leandro, was killed, and Mrs. Edna Gangnon, 43 years of age, bride-to-be of the victim, occupying the car with him, was considerably, although not gravely injured. The accident happened Sunday morning about eight o'clock on the slippery grade just north of the John Finne ranch on Redwood Highway this side of the cement bridge at the entrance to Redwood Valley. The car was not traveling rapidly, but it got onto the icy pavement before the driver was aware of his danger, turned over and crushed Mr. Yoakum.

Aid Immediately Given.

John Finne happened to reach the scene almost as soon as the fatality took place and, with passing motorists, extricated the unfortunate driver. The car was a sedan and was considerably loaded with personal goods of the occupants.

Accident Unavoidable.

The body was taken to Eversole's Mortuary to be prepared for burial. Chas. Ciancio, of the Traffic squad, investigated the accident and found the tragedy was caused by driving onto the icy pavement and resultant confusion which arose when the machine, sought to be kept from skidding, got out of control and turned over.

SANTA ROSANS DEFEAT UKIAH

Sonoma's Basketeers Could Not Be Held By Local Lads

Opening up after a slow start undefeated cagers of Santa Rosa high school turned what loomed as a close contest into easy victory Saturday night, claiming Ukiah high school as the sixth straight victory of the season 42 to 21, in a practice game here.

Was One Sided.

The Panther B's opened the evening's double header with a decisive 34-12 victory over Ukiah's lightweights.

Held For A Time.

The unlimited squad, failing to click with the opening whistle, were held to a 4-4 tie at the first quarter by the Ukiahans, but Santa Rosa's center opened the second period with a flurry of scores, and led his teammates into a comfortable 22-8 advantage at half-time.

"MORE"

"HOW MANY OF US are sad victims of the habit of seeking 'more'?" asks Ralph Kingsley, writing in The New York Times. "Behind every hand of cards, smiles an illusive, imaginary trick which can never be taken, yet a certain misguided type of player is always scheming, striving, straining after it. He feels he must always get just a little more out of everything than anyone else. Sometimes this continual overplay leads to a costly mistake.

"How many men in daily business are that way? They torture themselves and everyone around them by constant forcing. Normal sales, normal profits, normal advantages, never satisfy them. Excited by continual acquisition, they keep pressing for 'More, More!'

"The unhappiest man I know has an income of $250,000 a year. He wants something more. What he wants he doesn't know. More money, more power, more prestige, more social enjoyment! The real truth is that he doesn't want any specific material thing. But he has spent so many years battling for 'more,' that 'more' has now become a complex. His tired, middle-aged brain is rigidly grooved with 'more.' It can't change and relax. This poor old man will probably die whispering 'More!'—just like a dissatisfied child."

Sidelights of Sadness

Being incidents connected with California's State Prisons as observed by A. R. O'Brien, editor of The Republican Press, who is a director of the State Board of Prisons of California.

TWO MEN OUT OF PLACE

He was training a young dog on a lot under one of the guard posts at San Quentin. As I watched him I marveled at the patience he showed and observed he at no time struck the animal he was working with.

I went over and talked with him.

He knew a lot about dogs and he loved them.

He appeared reluctant to talk to me and what I got from him was obtained only in answers to questions I put to him.

The dog he was training was doing a trick I had seen done by two famous dogs on the screen and I mentioned that fact to him. At this he came out of his shell and at once got to talking moving picture dog stars. "You know," he said, "Rin-Tin-Tin was a great deal smarter than Strong Heart and picked up what you wanted him to do in much shorter time, but, when it came to intelligence, to really having what a human being calls brains, Strong Heart had it all over Rin-Tin-Tin."

We talked a little longer and I went away.

The man interested me and I determined to find out who he was.

This I did and discovered, sorrowfully, he had a long sentence ahead of him.

He was in for highway robbery.

What do you think the man did before he got in trouble?

He was a dog trainer and he it was who trained and brought to the screen that remarkably clever dog actor—Strong Heart.

I had to go into one of the great cellblocks at Folsom one day recently and as I passed a cell I heard some one pounding a typewriter in a most expert way. In newspaper parlance he was "hanging his line" and he kept at it right along.

As we passed the cell I said to the guard who was with me: "That prisoner can sure burn up a machine." The reply was "Yes, and while he is doing it he makes it pay him. Have you any idea who the man is who is running that typewriter?"

My answer was that I did not.

"He is the fellow who wrote 'The Big House' that was on the screen a couple of years ago. Wallace Beery starred in it."

Naturally, I could not help going into a reverie. Here was a man who had produced a film which had created a sensation and was shown all over the world. There was my erstwhile friend the dog trainer, down at San Quentin, who had brought out all the fine qualities of acting in Strong Heart. Each of these two men had created amusement for millions of people. Now they were living the drabest life imaginable.

Truly one encounters genius in unexpected places!

FISHERMAN'S BOAT RESCUED

Beat Fort Bragg.

The basketball team of the Native Sons of this city took on and easily defeated the Fort Bragg high school five in the Fort Bragg gym court. The score was 30-27.

Save Fishing Boat.

Anyone who saw the ocean in action the past several days will appreciate the dangers to those who go down to the sea in ships—especially in small craft—such as that used by members of the salmon fishing fleet.

It Takes Courage.

Few realize the dangers that have to be braved by the men of the Coast Guard. Imagine taking off from any one of the coast harbors in a moderate sized power boat in the face of the big combers that rolled in from the west Saturday to Thursday of last week.

Went After Injured Man.

The Point Arena Guardsmen were first called Monday by a message stating a man had been injured on one of the trawlers operating off this coast. They quickly went out through Point Arena harbor into the big breakers successfully with their boat although it looked like it would be swamped any minute; went to the fishing craft and took off the injured man, which is a man-sized job in itself in a heavy sea and then returned through the breakers to Point Arena where the sailor was put in an automobile and started to San Francisco.

Took Out Food.

Toward evening of the same day the Guards made a second trip through an equally turbulent sea to provide the occupants of two Noyo fishing boats with water and provisions. These boats had been unable to gain a harbor and had run out of almost everything but fish and gasoline.

Know Their Business.

Two trips in one day requiring four encounters with heavy seas at the harbor entrance speak volumes for the expert seamanship of the Point Arena Coast Guards.

The Catholic ladies will give the annual New Year's dance in the Civic Club hall New Year's eve. The Coast Harmonizers will furnish the music.

About Completed.

The last work is being done around the M. J. Pellascio service station.

over the ocean. Then I saw a town north of me, and located the open field where I managed to land my ship." Miss Chatterton, who has won fame on the stage as well as the screen, remained in Fort Bragg overnight.

Had An Audicnce.

Her plane was refueled Wednesday morning, and she "hopped off" shortly before noon for San Francisco before a large assemblage of spectators. She flew south along the coast and arrived safely at the bay city airport a short time later.

Willits Residents Prove To Be Lucky

(The Willits News)

Last week we told how Donald Haskett won a $50 prize in a contest for amateur photographers conducted by a big national concern. Radio listeners in Willits were pleased to hear the announcement over the radio last Sunday night Fred L. Sowash, music instructor at the Willits high school, had been awarded a fine gold watch for writing a verse that was sung on a popular program at that time. Winning prizes is a new industry in Willits, but we hope our local citizens keep it up. Every little bit helps.

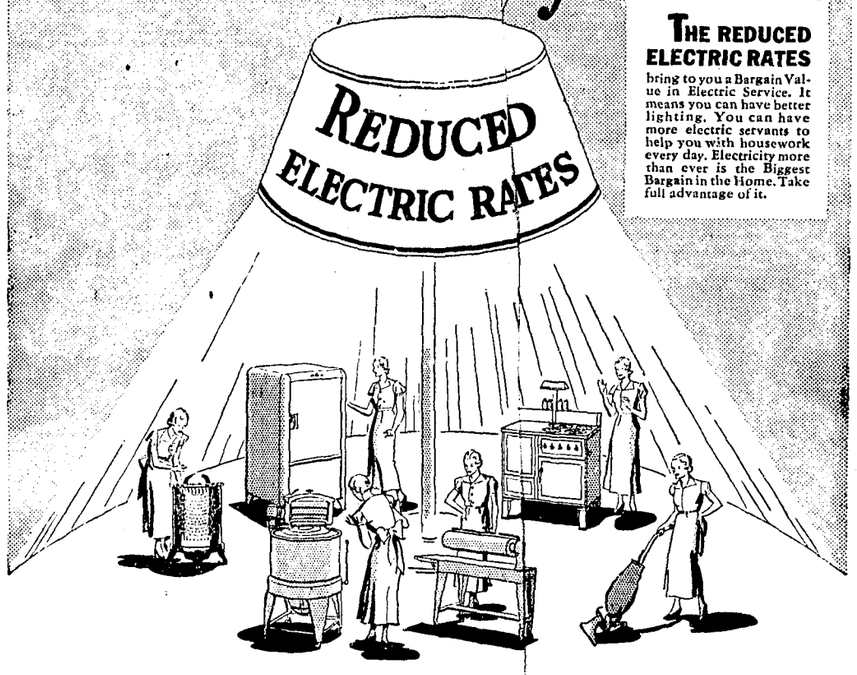
Plan Now to Do More Electrically!



THE REDUCED ELECTRIC RATES bring to you a Bargain Value in Electric Service. It means you can have better lighting. You can have more electric servants to help you with housework every day. Electricity more than ever is the Biggest Bargain in the Home. Take full advantage of it.

Here's How Cheaply Certain Electrical Servants Work Under the New Low-Cost Electricity:

- If your electric bill has been $2.09 or less per month . . . you can use an electric dishwasher 90 times a month for 13¢, run a washing machine for 11¢ a month, use a vacuum cleaner for 8.3¢ a month.
- Add any one of these electric appliances. Operate it on the savings from the reduced rates. If your electric bill is $2.10 or more your savings are even greater.
- The above figures are based on an estimated average cost for electricity in all incorporated areas. In unincorporated areas the cost is slightly higher.

"Lower the cost of electricity and we will use more electricity." If you have been one of our customers who has said this, now you can put additional electrical servants to work in your home at no additional cost or only slight increase in cost. Electricity right after your December meter reading will be cheaper than ever before.

With the new reduced rates, the unit cost of electricity steps down sharply as you add certain essential and labor-saving electrical servants. An electric refrigerator is one of these. A washing machine and ironer or a vacuum cleaner, electric heater or larger floor and table lamps that give better light for better sight. Any or all of these electric servants would make ideal gifts this Christmas. You can add certain of these appliances without increasing your monthly bill and you can add all of them with only a slight increase in your bill.

You will find special Christmas displays of electric appliances in stores everywhere and in all our offices. See them. Ask to have them demonstrated. Make THIS an electrical Christmas in your home.

Special Correspondence of The Press

COVELO, Dec. 24.—The great news of the week to the community is the new union high school building has been accepted. Some furniture has been moved in and school will be held there after the holidays. Auditor Spain, Architect Calkins and Inspectors Clay and Jago took their departure Saturday and Sunday. For several months the crew of workmen and officials have come and gone in connection with high school work and Captain and Mrs. Jago, who have had their home at Hotel Covelo, will be especially missed. They are passing the holidays with their married children in the Bay regon.

Dream Came True.

Dr. J. S. Hogshead, clerk of the high school board for 28 years, realizes the dream of many years in the completion of the new building. The total cost is about $34,000.

Always For It.

Another earnest worker for what at times has seemed like a lost cause, is Senator G. M. Biggar, whose championship of the Longvale road over long years is about to bear fruit and become an accomplished fact.

Award The Contract.

Bids for the new road were opened last week at Sacramento. Hemstreet & Bell, of Marysville, were low bidders although the contract has not yet been signed. The specifications call for a well-drained road. Culverts required, if laid end to end, would total two miles.

Off For Vacation.

Dennie Willis, teacher of the Red Hill school, which has been moved to the Johnny O'Ferrall place, was in town Friday, going home for the holidays. Since the children have not so far to go, it is hoped to reopen about January 10. Other mountain schools which have closed for the winter are the two Red Rock schools and the one at Mina.

Pioneer Is Sick.

John Perry, old-timer in Round Valley, is seriously ill in San Rafael. Mrs. Perry and the daughters are with him.

Many Are Sick.

Dr. and Mrs. Herzer are passing the weekend in Humboldt county. Mumps and pinkeye are among Round Valley's favorite indoor sports at present.

Mrs. Beatrice Goforth and daughter, Margaret, went to Berkeley to bring Roger Perkins back to pass Christmas with them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hemenway are passing the holidays with their daughter, Mrs. Venus Power, in Oakland.

Get Licenses Here As In Other Years

Manager E. W. James of the AAA announces 1936 license plates for automobiles will be provided by the local office of the Association as in other years.

Bought Many Turkeys.

W. D. McClenahan, of San Francisco, bought about $5000 worth of turkeys here this week. He used Ed Long's former store as a receiving depot. Many turkey raisers took advantage of the opportunity to sell their birds "as is," eliminating the cost of wrapping, packing and transportation. Payment was made by check, which did away with the long wait and uncertainty as to price. Hens brought 21 cents and gobblers 25 cents on Friday.

Mountaineers In Town.

Mountain neighbors in town with turkeys and to do Christmas shopping were John Brightenstine, Fred Reed and Lee O'Ferrall from Buck and Bald Mountain.

Has Passed On.

Saturday's Chronicle carried news of the death of W. A. Chelew in San Francisco. The Chelews formerly lived near Summit Valley and have many friends who sympathize with Mrs. Chelew in her loss.

Made A Call.

Clyde Henry, electric light magnate, passed several days in Covelo last week. From here he went to Garberville to inspect a steam shovel and thence to Sacramento.

John Ham, Jr., and his wife are passing Christmas with the old folks.

Was Remembered.

Mrs. Paul Cerutti is enjoying a new radio, a Christmas gift from her husband.

Brought Out Crowd.

The union Christmas celebration church and schools—held at the auditorium was a great success Friday evening, especially singing by a group of tiny tots who also sang at the close of Sunday school on Sunday. Truly "of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Are Working Hard.

Both mail and express, our principal links with the world outside, are heavy these days, but Uncle Sam's representative, Clifford Johnson, and Expressman McClure are obliging and punctual, as usual, despite long hours, frost and fog. One is reminded of the inscription over the great facade of the New York city postoffice, the words of Herodotus: "Neither sleet, nor snow, nor hail, nor winter's cold, nor gloom of night, can stay the swift flight of these messengers on their appointed course."

Response Was Liberal.

Replying generously to the appeal for picture books and toys for Indian children in hospitals, clubwomen and Daughters of the Revolution sent to Mrs. E. V. A. Murphey this week three cartons for Fort Bidwell and one was saved for the Reservation school, something for each child in Mrs. Hauck's and Mrs. Jamison's rooms. From her emergency fund, provided by D. A. R.'s Mrs. Murphey bought tree trimmings and a set of electric light bulbs and wire to be used annually on the Reservation tree at the auditorium. The Reservation celebration will be held on Christmas eve. Boxes of toys and puzzles were sent to three mountain Indian schools and remembrances to Round Valley children at Carson Indian school.

Recalled The Sick.

Besides the toys sent to Fort Bidwell was the outstanding gift of the Indian children of the Round Valley Reservation school to ailing children at Fort Bidwell Hospital. It was made of large sheets of heavy paper with all sorts of pictures neatly pasted in. The last half of the book was made up of the children's own work, Indian designs, drawings, cut paper work, etc. The book represented many hours of patient work by tiny fingers. A letter of presentation stated the Round Valley children hoped the children at the hospital would enjoy the scrapbook, because all the grades had contributed to it.—Hands across the hills!

Helen and Jack Hogshead are enjoying Christmas with their father, Dr. Hogshead.

Mr. Johnston, of Covelo Garage, brought some new cars up from San Francisco recently. Mrs. Johnston accompanied him.
